Mirror Image: From the Edge of Raqqa, the Evolution and Future of ISIS and their Wilayats

Imagine what could be learned if you could place someone into a ISIS safehouse on the outskirts of Raqqa. What could one learn about the enemy?

Over 2500 years ago Sun Tzu wrote “know the enemy and know yourself; in a hundred battles you will never know peril.” Mirror Image training participants will be assigned to four simulated terrorist cells being trained in a realistic terrorist training camp. The purpose of this training is to educate the participants into the evolution and future of ISIS and their Wilayats. One cell will replicate the networks of the Paris and Brussels cells. Another will replicate an ISIS cell in Libya and the last two cells will replicate those cells waging jihad on the outskirts of Raqqa. Lectures, exercises and numerous guest speakers will give the participants insight and a keen awareness of the operational methodology of ISIS and the challenges posed by this terrorist group.

Comments From Mirror Image

“The concept of teaching the class from the perspective of the enemy was fantastic.”

“I have taken a number of courses in relation to terrorism activities while in law enforcement. This course is by far the best course I have attended. So much information was put out and the instructors were excellent.”

“Great course will highly recommend!

“Instructors were knowledgeable in their field and presented information from real-world experience.”

“Having Instructors who have literally “been there, done that” is invaluable. Their ability to take their personal experiences and apply it to a terrorist based scenario made for a very realistic learning environment”
